Kris is a product of seventh generation winemaker Franz Haas and his wife, Maria Luisa Manna Haas. The Franz Haas winery, which produces Kris, is located in the Alto Adige province of Northeast Italy. Alto Adige has a rich past, belonging to various political regimes at different points in time. This history has yielded a blend of Germanic influences and Italian styles, which can be seen in the region's culture, architecture, and lifestyle. It is here among the breathtaking Dolomites Mountains that modern German technology complements traditional Italian artistry in the final blending, refining, and bottling of Kris.

The labels for the Kris range were sketched by the Haas' family friend, the late Riccardo Schweizer. Each of the inspiring and playful labels conveys Kris' expressive style and portrays the blending of art and science in the winemaking process. The gold orb depicts the role of the Italian sun in ripening the grapes, the hand represents the role of the human hand in cultivating the grapes and crafting the wine and the kiss represents the role of the lips that ultimately savour the wine. It is on the blending bench that art meets science as Franz combines his artistic intuition and technical ability to craft expressive wines that are full of varietal and regional character with value for money in mind.

Pinot Grigio IGT

The wine is IGT Delle Venezie, a historical term for the three regions of the Veneto, encompassing Trentino-Alto Adige, Friuli-Venezia Giulia and the Veneto. The wine is pale with aromas of acacia flowers, citrus and almonds, the palate lean and refreshing with notes of blossom and honey.
